Education

- 2026 PhD Social Psychology, University of Southern California, Thesis: Culture, Conflict, Threat, and Technology
2023 MA Social Psychology, University of Southern California, Thesis: Ideological Threat on Twitter and Prejudice
2017 MA Cognitive Anthropology, Queen's University Belfast, Northern Ireland, U.K., Thesis: Ethics in Intergroup Conflict
2015 BA Psychology & Religious Studies, CSU Northridge, Cum Laude - Honors - Minor: Cultural Studies

Research Experience

- 2026 Postdoctoral Researcher, ViewPoints Lab, Carnegie Mellon University
- Led experiments on AI persuasion of attitudes related to AI safety and security
 - Advised by Tom Costello, co-advised by David Rand & Gordon Pennycook, supported by Far.AI
- 2026 Research Fellow, The Psychology of Technology Institute, MIT Media Lab (Cyborg Psychology)
- Led the evaluation and expansion of the Open Benchmark of AI Impact on Humans and AI Nutrition Labels
 - Analyzed the gap between social media platform metrics and user experience for the Polarization Footprint internationally
- 2025 Summer Research Associate - AI, Culture, & Government, RAND Corporation, Santa Monica & Washington, D.C.
- Analyzed perceptions and impacts of emerging technologies and AI across communities and cultures for the Science and Technology Dept, Dept of Homeland Security Research Division, and the National Security Research Division
- 2020-26 Behavioral Researcher, Morality and Language Lab - Computational Social Science, University of Southern California
- Led 8+ published research projects employing mixed methods—including behavioral experiments, survey analysis, and NLP computational methods—to explore culture, conflict, and technology within and across cultures
 - Managed teams of 20+ annotators across multiple projects, developing diverse LLM training corpora with over 40,000 annotated posts in multiple languages, focusing on subjective measurements of morality, hate, and information spread
- 2021- Human-Centered AI Researcher for Sociotechnical Systems, Everyday Respect LAPD Project, USC
- Directed the human-centered AI team for the Everyday Respect Project, building multi-perspective AI models that analyze LAPD body cam data to support transparency and accountability in sociotechnical system improvements with bias mitigation
- 2024 LLM Integration - User Experience Researcher, AgentGrow, Los Angeles
- Led UX research leveraging user feedback surveys, behavioral metrics, LLM fine-tuning strategies, and prompt engineering to enhance product design, address ethical concerns, and improve trust and safety
- 2022 Subjective Annotation Project Manager, Google Jigsaw + USC
- Led a team of 8 annotators to label 16,099 comments for hate-based rhetoric to utilize for LLM fine-tuning and evaluation
- 2016-18 Applied Anthropology Researcher, Institute of Cognition & Culture, Queen's University Belfast, U.K.
- Mixed-methods research on shifting intergroup relations and cross-community outreach of the Northern Irish conflict
- 2015 Psychology Research Assistant, The Herczeg Institute, Tel Aviv University, Israel
- Data analysis of hostile-world scenarios, well-being, and narrative/sentiment on the collective trauma of Israelis/Palestinians
- 2013-15 Cognitive Research Assistant, Cognition and Society Consultant Team, CSU Northridge
- Led a user-centric research project at the University Children's Center to assess and address the psychological needs of student parents, involving surveys, user interviews, data analysis, tool creation, and stakeholder engagement
